Press Release

The TCI Integrity Commission, is a pioneer executive member of the Commonwealth Caribbean Association of Integrity Commissions and Anti-Corruption Bodies (CCAICACB) and will join other Commonwealth Caribbean Countries at the 3rd Annual Conference of the Association to be held at Pegasus Hotel, Kingston, Jamaica from April 24 -28, 2017. The theme of this year's Conference is "The Anti-Corruption Agenda: Today, Tomorrow, The Region and Beyond".

The Association was established under the auspices of Commonwealth Secretariat, London, United Kingdom, during the Inaugural Conference of the Association, hosted by Grenada in 2015. Since then, the Commonwealth Secretariat London, has continued to support and sponsor the Association's Conferences, which provide regional and international forums for delegates to share experiences and exchange ideas, best practices and trends in their anti-corruption efforts in the Caribbean.

Since its inauguration, the TCI Commission has been actively involved in the regional and international anti-corruption efforts of the Association, including sharing the TCI's regionally unique and valuable experiences in the regulation of political financing. Two Members of the TCI Integrity Commission, Rev Julia Williams and Canon Mark Kendall, and its Director, Mr. Eugene Otuonye, Q.C. will represent the Commission at this year's Conference. Their participation at the Conference will include, chairing of Conference Sessions and the presentation of TCI country paper, highlighting, best practices, trends and developments in the efforts of TCI Integrity Commission and other relevant Institutions and Agencies to protect good governance and combat corruption in TCI.

Eugene Otuonye, Q.C.
Director, TCI Integrity Commission
